PRESEVIERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

ADMISSION OF THE KINTUCKY SYNOI

We extract from the Nashville paper the following report of the reception of the Synod of Kentucky by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States:

FIFTH TOXY-TWE-DAY, 509-26.

Fr male Barner From the Banner.

The report of the committee appointed to consider the letter of the Kenincky synod, presented by Rev. Strart Robinson, was taken on a half past one. The after, it will be remembered, makes overtures for organic unit between the Kentucky. Synod and the Presbyterian Charch. fo lowing resolutions were reported HOTICE OF WARRIES All whom it may concern. lle now telt like saying, Peace, joy. home, thank God.

Riev. Mr. Cumpston, of the Synod of Virginia, said he mist be permitted to thank the brother from Kentacky Lev. Mr. Davies for what he had said of the constituent elements of this Assembly, as also of the light ecclesiastical principles on which we together stand. At the opening of the meeting he had said we are neither New nor Old School Prestyterians, but the Presbyterian Church in the United States. It we are to preserve the monuments of the church, of which Dr. Robinson has spoken, let us preserve the remembrance of them all. In 1857 a portion of this body contended, with great actifices, for these same principles for which our Kentucky brethreu have so nobly labored. This General Assembly is known to the world as standing apon this Presbyterian foundation, and no man of this body can more cordially welcome these dear brethren to unite with us on this one ground of the Gospel of Jeaus Christ in prosecuting that great work He has committed to our trust. On this ground we have stood, and by the grace of God will stand till we die.

Rev. Dr. More replied that it would he useless and impertinent for him to attempt to add to the heartfelt exprassions of the true brothers of the church, who had become united in fraternal bonds. Brothers, we have met in other circumstances, when the backs of these on whom we rened were turned against us. We shall never forget when your hands were extended to us and your bearts best for THE first of Snyder & Sanders was also be partial to mutual consent on the limitation of the partial to maintain the bright of the manness of the front ordination. I notice by the city papers of the last ten days that the underwriters of St. Louis are considerably exercised on the subject of the comparatice safety of transporting property on harges and steamboats on the Mississippi river. Your currespondent has had much and varied experience as a steamboat Cuptuin and owner for the past twenty years, and offers the following information, believing it proper that the question should be cauvassed in all its bearings. I tund by referring to the books of the Holl Inspector that the hest barges now running from this port have plank only 3 inches thick on their bottoms, with floer timbers 6 by 3 and 3! inches and with side and top plank in proportion. This amount of timber would do very well for a 250-ton barge, but when they are hult to carry from 700 to 200 tons it will not do at all. Now we come to the propelling power and the usual mode of tewing harvess First explanation. Three But childs have been "decorated by Francs dosell and 12 feet in his stockings. Eve was 11s neet long.

Three But childs have been "decorated by Francs dosell and 12 feet in his stockings of towing harges. First, we have a tember of the propelling power and the usual mode of towing harges. First, we have a tember of the fall sand to feet long and 55 feet beam: this heat has a stern-wheel, with three or tour holders, and capacity to early her own fiel for four or twe days. Now take three barges built as 1 have described place one on each side of our towhoat, which, having a guard ou cach side, is 55 feet, extreme width, and place the third harge in front of the towhoat, and we have had for sixty days, and are liable to have during the halunce of the fail season, and place the have had for sixty days, and are liable to have during the halunce of the fail season, and place the have had for sixty days, and are liable to have during the halunce of the fail season, and place the have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have had for sixty days, and are liable to have during the halunce of the fail season, and place the many had feet. As stated by the Gazette, Major Morey ite d'evingten, Friday, ou business, and ile passing the oree of detective But's, a end of Burbridge, was engaged by home conversation, until Col. Burbridge came. But's then retiring. Burbridge then she to Morey in relation to the article south the burber.

to the door of the hovel, endeuvoring, in the meantime, to draw his peatol, and was attempting to do so when Burbridge shot him, the ball passing through his right arm and entering his side. Morey a right was, of course, paraly ed by the shot, and his pistol fill to the ground. I ve given you took said Purbridge exultingly. Detective Butts then came up, and, taking his picolifon him, plared him under arrest. Burbridge was subsequently held to hall in the sum of $1,000.

Col. Robert Richardson, who prosecuted to Col. Burbridge, reviewed, in scathing turns, the Burbridge reign of terror, and occlared that, when all who had spoken or written against it had received their dose, every 'Democrat and Conservative, and every honest radical in the State, would have been killed off. Then, and not until, could Burbridge hope to find applegists or defenders.

and personal friends before the war, and that since they frequently met on friendy terms. Nor had he at any time joined in the numerous attacks upon him for his connection with the odious "Hog" and other orders of the General's, or in regard to his course as Treasury Agent at New Orleans, hoping there might be some extenuating circumstances in the case, nor had he any idea that the Colonel was ambitious to assume and champion the cause

MILE TRADE.—John Swiney, the popular attacke of the Northern Bank, has made a trip to Georgia at an M. D. Hereturns recuperated in health, but brings the report of dult times.

D. W. Bayless, of Thomasson, Georgia, also reports the market list. Mr. B. says there is no place in the wide world like Bourbon, and that we can direct his paper hereafter to North Middletown.

There are two buyers from Georgia in our county, who are purchasing mules, causing the market to look up a little.
